

When the world wants to talk, it speaks Unicode. Register now for the Tenth International Unicode Conference, to be held on March 10-12, 1997, in Mainz, Germany. The Conference will bring together industry-wide experts on the global Internet and Unicode, internationalization and localization, implementation of Unicode in operating systems and applications, fonts, text layout, and multilingual computing. When the world wants to talk, it speaks Unicode. Register now for the Tenth International Unicode Conference, to be held on March 10-12, 1997, in Mainz, Germany. The Conference will bring together industry-wide experts on the global Internet and Unicode, internationalization and localization, implementation of Unicode in operating systems and applications, fonts, text layout, and multilingual computing.

Figure 1: When the world wants to talk, it speaks Unicode. Register now for the Tenth International Unicode Conference, to be held on March 10-12, 1997, in Mainz, Germany. The Conference will bring together industry-wide experts on the global Internet and Unicode, internationalization and localization, implementation of Unicode in operating systems and applications, fonts, text layout, and multilingual computing.